• On May 12, 2008, a massive 8.0 magnitude earthquake hit Sichuan
• The death toll has reached 69,130 while 17,824 more are still missing.
Among the hardest hit are the schools where thousands of students were killed ...
and many more are without classrooms...
What can we do?

• Donate money ourselves
• Organize fundraising campaign

500 yuan (US$87) will help an affected student.
5,000 yuan (US$870) will help an orphan in primary school.
9,000 yuan (US$1,570) will help an orphan in junior high school.
14,000 yuan (US$2,340) will help an orphan in senior high school.
20,000 yuan (US$3,510) will help an affected family.

You can also donate money towards setting up makeshift Hope schools and rebuilding post-quake Hope schools.

20,000 yuan (US$3,510) will help set up one makeshift classroom with desks and chairs. Classrooms are in form of large tents or made of light movable boards, with a capacity of holding 60 students. Ten to twenty classrooms will make one makeshift Earthquake Relief Hope School. Donors can name the classrooms or schools supported.

50,000 yuan (US$8,530) will help rebuild a post-quake Hope school. Donors can name the school supported.

Because of the current poor communication with the disaster areas, all of the damage is unknown. The China Youth Development Foundation will continue to receive donations and after the damage is fully assessed, we will communicate with you and the children in the disaster areas.

In order to watch children and donors, please be sure to leave detailed contact information including your address, zip code, telephone number, and name of the donor. Post offices and a bank transfer of remittance must be addressed to "Project Hope Disaster Relief." The China Youth Development Foundation will issue receipts for each contribution. Donors with donations of 1 million yuan or more are encouraged to set up special funds and can take advantage of preferential taxation policies.
